Personal Information Protection Policy

Nanaimo Community Kitchens Society collects and uses some personal information about our members. Protecting this personal information is one of our highest priorities.

While we have always respected privacy and safeguarded personal information, we have strengthened our commitment to protecting personal information as a result of British Columbia's Personal Information Protection Act (PIPA). PIPA, which came into effect on January 1, 2004, sets out the ground rules for how BC business and not-for-profit organizations may collect, use and disclose personal information.

We will inform our members why and how we collect and use their personal information, obtain their consent where required, and only handle their personal information in a manner that a reasonable person would consider appropriate in the circumstances.

In compliance with PIPA, our privacy commitment includes ensuring the accuracy, confidentiality, and security of all personal information and allowing our members to request access to, and correction of, their personal information.
